

Susan M. Schor, Ph.D.

Chief Culture Officer
EILEEN FISHER, Inc.

Susan M. Schor, Ph.D. is Chief Culture Officer at EILEEN FISHER, Inc. She is part of the three-person Facilitating Leader Team that “holds the whole,” facilitates company priorities and decision making, and inspires the integration of the Creative, Culture and Business aspects of the company. FLT also leads EILEEN FISHER in living its mission, “To Inspire Simplicity, Creativity and Delight through Connection and Great Design.” In addition, Susan guides the leaders of People and Culture, which includes Leadership, Learning & Development, Social Consciousness, Human Resources and Internal Communications. Prior to joining EILEEN FISHER, Susan was Associate Professor of Management at Pace University and an organizational and management consultant.

Founded in 1984, with a vision for versatile clothing that supports women’s lives, the collection is sold by major retailers and special stores across the U.S. and Canada as well as in 39 company-owned stores. The company is proud to enjoy steady growth, with revenue reaching $225 million in 2006, which they attribute to the mutual respect and ongoing dialogue they share with the women the brand serves.