

Notes

- The Colleges of the Fenway Shared Minor in Migration Studies is offered through Simmons University and Emmanuel College. Students across the COF may participate in the minor through cross-registration.
- The minor prepares undergraduate students for professional and civic lives in a world increasingly marked by diversity. The program enhances student understandings of migration, emigration, and immigration through strong scholarly foundations, interdisciplinary case studies, and engagement with the Boston community. By adding interdisciplinary courses specifically addressing immigration, students will be well positioned to bring a comprehensive understanding of migration and immigration to their professional and civic lives.
- Take 5 courses to complete the minor: 1 required course, 3 electives and 1 service learning or community partnership course.

Service Learning or Community Partnership Course

Migration Studies minors are required to take a class on immigration issues with a Service Learning/ Community Partnership component. The service experiences are arranged through organizations that cater to the needs of local communities in the Boston area. Students will be required to complete a mid-semester reflection report and a final report summarizing their service engagement. Service learning class examples include SOC101 (Simmons). Students may double-count experiential learning courses taken towards their major(s) if the course/internship entails significant work with an immigrant community or with an organization primarily focused on issues related to migration, immigration, or immigrant communities.
